

Elena Carolina Diaz Galan

Professor of Public International Law and International Relations University Rey Juan Carlos. Madrid, Spain. Main areas of research: protection of human rights; International Organizations and institutions; sustainable development; and international peace and security. She has many publication in these fields and she has taught at undergraduate and postgraduate level on these areas. She has made research stays in prestigious research Institutes and Universities abroad such as: University of Nevada (Reno); University of The Habana; University of Paris X Nanterre (France); and Instituto Superior de Ciências Sociais e Políticas da Universidade de Lisboa.