

Francesco Adamo

Francesco Adamo is emeritus professor of economic geography and development planning at the Department of Business and Economics of the University of the Eastern Piedmont. He has carried out scientific and didactic activity also in other universities. He has been Head of the II Faculty of Economy of the University of Turin, Director of the Department of Studies for the Enterprise and the Territory of the University of the Eastern Piedmont (settled in 1998) and Coordinator of the new course of bachelor in Promotion and management of tourism (2001-2005) of the same University. He has been promoter and coordinator of several scientific and research programmes; and adviser for the Ministry of Foreign Affairs Italian and for the U.N. Centre for Science and Technology for Development.

Since 2011, he is President of Geoprogress, a non-profit association, which aims to contribute to the progress of humanity and its territories, especially by promoting growth and dissemination of knowledge and the improvement of the quality of human resources and the terrestrial ecosystem. He is Editor in chief of scientific journals and other series for “geoprogress-edition.eu”.