

Zofia Sawicka

Zofia Sawicka is a researcher at the University of Rzeszów, she is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Human Rights Institute of Political Science and Security Studies. She holds an interdisciplinary academic background in Arabic Philology, Media Studies, and Political Science. Her research focuses on Arab states, migration, and integration policies in Europe. She is particularly interested in political discourse analysis, migration governance, and the social consequences of the absence of institutional integration frameworks, as well as identity construction processes. Her current research examines the situation of Ukrainian war refugees in Poland and international relations in the Arab world.